

BILL NYE ON PULLMAN CAR ETIQUETTE.

Many people have traveled all their lives, and yet do not know how to behave themselves while on the road. For the benefit and guidance of such, these few, plain, horse-sense rules of etiquette have been framed to be used during the present season.

In traveling by rail, on foot, turn to the right on discovering an approaching train. If you desire to have the train turn out for you, give two loud toots, but it will be safer to get in between the rails and squat so that in case the train should not have time to turn out for you, the right of way will not be so badly muddled up. Many a nice new right-of-way has been ruined by getting a pedestrian spattered all over its first morning.

On retiring at night, on board the train, do not leave your yaw teeth in the ice-water tank. If every one should do so it would occasion great confusion in case of wreck. It would also cause much annoyance and delay to Gabriel during the resurrection. Put your teeth where they will be near your remains, unless you desire to gum it all through eternity.

Experienced tourists tie a string to their teeth and then wear them all night. Do not leave them with your shoes for the porter to brush in the morning. According to a recent ruling of the Supreme Court, the porter of a Pullman car running through any State, over the line of a solvent road, may not be compelled, by certiorari or otherwise, to brush the store teeth of tourists traveling on a page.

If you have been reared in extreme poverty, and your mother has supported you until you grew up and married, so that your wife could then support you, you will no doubt sit on four seats at the same time, with your feet extended into the aisles, so that you can wipe them off on other people while you snore with your mouth open clear to your shoulder blades.

If you are prone to drop asleep and breathe with a low death-rattle, like the last low gurgle of a bath-tub, it would be a good plan to tie up your head in a feather-bed, and then insert the whole thing in the linen closet; or, if you cannot secure that, you might stick it out of the window and get it knocked off against a tunnel. It would be rough on the tunnel, but you could do it in such a way that the general superintendent wouldn't know whose head it was, and then you would be all right.

Ladies and gentlemen should guard against traveling by rail while in a beastly state of intoxication. In the dining-car, while eating, do not comb your mustache with the fork. By all means, do not comb your mustache with the fork of another. It is better to refrain altogether from combing the mustache with a fork while traveling, for the motion of the train might jab the fork into your eye and irritate it.

If your dessert is very hot and you do not discover it until you have burned the rafters out of the roof of your mouth, do not utter a wild yell of agony and spill your coffee all over a total stranger, but control yourself, hoping to know more next time.

In the morning is a good time to find out how many people have succeeded in getting on the passenger train who ought to be in the cattle car.

Generally you will find one male and one female. The male goes into the wash room, bathes his worthless carcass from daylight until breakfast time, walking on the feet of any man who tries to wash his own face during that time. He wipes his face and hands on nine different towels, because he knows that when he gets home he will have to wipe his nose on an old door mat. People who have no towels at home want a new one every ten minutes when they travel. Tourists who have been reared on hay at home all their lives, generally want to fill themselves full of pie and collie when they go abroad.

The female of this same animal goes into the ladies' department and primp till starvation drives her out. Then the real ladies have about thirteen seconds in which to dress.

If you never rode in a varnished car before, and never expect to again, you will probably roam up and down the car, meandering over the feet of the porter while he is making up the berth. This is a good way to let people see just how little sense you had left after your brain began to soften.

In traveling, do not take along a lot of old clothes that you know you will never wear.

Never walk through a car staring everybody out of countenance like a dollar-store detective hunting for Jesse James a year after he was dead, but attend to your own business and keep quiet, and you may fool some one on the trip.

A Perishable Cargo.

Mr. William Parsons, the lecturer, was one day a passenger on a big sleigh away up in Michigan. On the road they met another sleigh not nearly so big as their own. The little sleigh kind of kept to the middle of the drifted road, and the driver of the big sleigh kind of turned clear out and kind of turned his sleigh clear over and plunged his six or seven passengers up to their necks or heels in the chilly drifts, just as they happened to be shot in head first or feet foremost. Loud was their wrath. They wanted to mob their cowardly driver. "Why didn't you make that little fellow turn out?" "Why didn't you upset him?" "Why didn't you run over him?" they demanded. "Could have done it," said the driver, groping about in the snow for stray values, "but I kind of hated to spoil his load." "What was he hauling?" demanded the lecturer. "Dynamite, for the mines," said the driver. They accepted his apology without a division, and the work of excavating for the buried Troy, the entombed dress suit, and "The Heroes of the Homeric Age" went on in silence.—Burdette.

A Slight Correction.

"Mrs. Smith," said a Chicago traveling man to his wife, "am I the senior member of the partnership which we formed over a year ago, with the assistance of the preacher?"

"Certainly," replied Mrs. Smith, weekly.

"Do I hold a controlling interest in this business?"

"Of course you do, dear."

"Am I the Secretary and Treasurer and Business Manager of this concern? Am I responsible for its financial status?"

"To be sure you are; I never said anything to the contrary, did I?" she responded.

"Now, what I wish to direct your attention to is this: Your household expenses have been running up to an alarming figure, and your demands for pin money may be properly described as exorbitant. I have decided that I must take steps to keep you in check."

"May I correct your grammar a little bit?" she inquired, sweetly.

"Certainly."

"You mean 'checks,' not check; plural number, you know," was the firmly spoken rejoinder. And he didn't attempt to argue the point.—Merchant Traveler.

A Liberal Man.

A Baltimore capitalist, who paid $180,000 for 300 acres of Alabama coal lands, was lately waited upon by a stranger, who said he lived near the purchase, and added:

"Now, 's ure, I want that ar land to make a farm for my two boys, and I'll make ye a liberal offer."

"Well, state your price."

"I'll give ye plump $3,000 in cash, and I don't care how soon you make out the papers. Considerin' the fact that the hell blasted parcel is full of coal, which has got to be hauled off and tumbled into the river to be got out of the way, I'm givin' ye the biggest kind of a bargain!"—Wall Street News.

MR. JACOB FROELICH, a well-known tailor of Cincinnati, O., after suffering for years with rheumatism, was cured in a short time by the use of St. Jacobs Oil.

Carl Pretzel's Philosophy.

Nature gives us some common senses, but she don't can shuff reason in mit dot.

Don't got yourself mat on leadle tings. When you get mat, it was cost you a good deal, conserkwendly it was awful foolishness to gif it away for nothing.

MRS. C. KELLOGG, Edgewood, Cal., says: Red Star Cough Cure is the best medicine she has ever used for colds for the children.

Sure to Suit.

They only needed one chair between them, and had been talking about the happy time when he would have some money saved up and she would have paid consent.

"You would never do as some husbands do, would you?"

"No, indeed. Never. In what way do you mean?"

"Why, go out of evenings and come home drunk, and go to bed with your boots on."

"No," replied he, "I'm sure I'd never do anything like t. at."

"I thought so," she murmured fondly. "I always wear shoes, anyhow," he added, thoughtfully.—Merchant Traveler.

A Genial Restorative.

Hostetter's Stomach Bitters are emphatically a genial restorative. The changes which this great botanic remedy produces in the disordered organization are always agreeable, though surely, progressive, never abrupt and violent. On this account it is admirably adapted to persons of delicate constitution and weak nerves, to whom the powerful mineral drugs are positively injurious. That it initiates those processes which result in the re-establishment of health is conspicuously shown in cases where it is taken to overcome that fruitful cause of debility, indigestion, coupled as it usually is, with biliousness and constipation. Thorough digestion, regular evacuation, and abundant secretion, are results which promptly and invariably attend its systematic use. It is, besides, the best protective against malaria, and a first-rate diuretic.

A Ghastly Fireplace.

A south side physician has capped the climax of suggestions. He is something of an artist in modeling in clay, and after he got his office supplied with natural gas he made a cast of a skull. The thing is horribly natural, even to the sutures across the skull and one front tooth knocked out. This is set up in the grate in such a way that the bluish-crimson flames of the burning gas steal through the eyes and nostrils and flicker playfully around the ghastly jaws. Little jets of flames flash through between the sunken jaws and light up the bony countenance, heated to a white-red heat in a manner horribly suggestive of other fires which are said to burn but not consume.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

Doubtful of the Outcome.

Life insurance agent (filling out application)—"Your general health is good, is it not?"

Applicant—"Never had a sick day in my life."

Agent—"Um. You do not contemplate entering upon any hazardous undertaking, I suppose?"

Applicant—"Well, yes, I am afraid I do. I am going to get married Wednesday."—Lowell Citizen.

How He Sold Them.

Clerk (in fashionable up-town bakery, to proprietor)—That tray of American soda biscuits in the window, sir, has been there for three weeks and they are getting sour. What shall I do about it?

Proprietor—Label them English tea muffins.—Life.

Important.

When you visit or leave New York City, save baggage, expressage, and $3 carriage hire, and stop at the Grand Union Hotel, opposite Grand Central Depot.

612 rooms, fitted up at a cost of one million dollars, $1 and upwards per day. European plan. Elevator. Restaurant supplied with the best Hors d'oeuvres, and elevated railroad to all depots. Families can live better for less money here than at any other hotel than at any other first-class hotel in the city.

Arousing His Ambition.

"The boy is all right," said the doctor, "but you want to talk to him and arouse his ambition. Promise him that you will take him somewhere when he recovers sufficiently to go out; talk to him about playing tag with the boys; there are lots of ways in which you can interest him."

Then the doctor addressed the boy, who was just recovering from a fever, saying:

"Come, Mickey, cheer up, my boy; wouldn't you like to go and play tag with your playmates?"

A faint smile stole over the boy's face, but that was all.

"Stop, sir," said the father, "I'll rouse him. See here, Mickey," he asked, addressing the boy, "wouldn't you like to go out and throw a rock through a Chinaman's windy?"

The boy immediately sat up in bed and asked for his pants.

"I thought that 'ud fetch 'im," said the father, with a proud smile; "he's all right, doctor, dear."

G. M. D.

Walking down Broadway is very pleasant when you feel well, and K. never felt better than when his friend asked him how he got over that severe cough of his so speedily. "Ah, my boy," said T. "G. M. D. did it." And his friend wondered what G. M. D. meant. He knew it did not mean a Good Many Doctors, for T. had tried a dozen in vain. "I have it," said he, just hitting the nail on the head, "you mean Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, or Gold Medal Deserve, as my friend J. S. always dubs it. Sold by druggists."
